Re. Demand for Compliance with the exiting rules about laying of the statutory notifications on the table of the House by Ministers

MR. CHAIRMAN: Now Papers to be laid on the Table. Mr. Jatiya. ...(Interruptions)... I have not given you permission. Mr. Jatiya, please wait. Mr. Pranab Mukherjee wants to say something on item No.1. ...(Interruptions)...

SHRI PRANAB MUKHERJEE (West Bengal) : Mr. Chairman, Sir, I have an objection. Mr. Jatiya cannot lay it on the Table of the House because the Act provides that when these notifications are issued, the Department must lay it on the Table of the House in the next session, Please read the rules. The first notification was issued on the 7lh February. The second notification was issued on the 11th April. The third notification was issued on the 25th February. They just cannot take it for granted. Parliament was in session upto I7th May. Why did you not consider it necessary to lay these notifications on the Table of the House in May? The whole purpose of making this rule is the notifications should be laid on the Table of the House. These statutory notifications are not merely for information. Parliament has a right; if we want, we can pick up any notification and consider it, approve it or disapprove it. A large number of notifications are laid. We do not take any notice of it. But that doesn't mean that the Ministers can go on flouting the established norms. Therefore, Mr. Chairman, Sir, I am raising this objection. Even if you allow the Minister to lay it on the Table of the House, you must issue a warning to all the Ministers that so far as statutory notifications are concerned, they must comply with the existing rules.

MR. CHAIRMAN: That is right. Papers to be laid on the Table. ..(Interruptions)... You have not taken my permission*..interruptions)...* You have not taken my permission. Please, please, please.
